Terms & Conditions

SPARK THE FUTURE,
JOIN THE CHALLENGE!

Registration & Participation

By registering on the online platform www.urbangreenhouse.nl you agree to all rules and regulations as mentioned in the Handbook as well as in these terms and conditions.

You are registered as a bachelor or master student at a university or university of applied sciences at the time of registration for the Urban Greenhouse Challenge'2. In case you are not registered as a student at a university or university of applied sciences, you may participate as PhD student or fresh graduate (graduation in July 2018 or later). However, your team cannot have more than 20% PhD students and fresh graduates.

If you are younger than 16 years, a parent or guardian must give permission for participation.

If you act contrary to the terms and conditions as described here and in the Handbook, WU is entitled to suspend or disqualify an individual participant or complete team.

Liability and Insurance

Participation in the Challenge is at your own risk and expense. Each student that is joining the site visit and/or attends the Grand Finale and related programme is obliged to have a travel (accident and medical) insurance for the entire programme of the site visit to China and their stay in the Netherlands for the Grand Finale. Students may be asked to provide proof of the insurance.

Media, ownership & IP

Each team will remain entitled to the intellectual property of the information, documents, videos and other items submitted in connection with the Challenge.

The entries of the participating teams are required to contain a part that is subject to publication requirements (public deliverables) and a part that will not be made public (confidential deliverables). The deliverables for the first milestone consist of Context Analysis, Program and Building Concept and are public. The deliverables for the second milestone and final product consist of different parts, of which the Context Analysis, Program and Building Concept are public. The Detailed Design and the Innovation part of the entries will only be available to the jury, the technical committee and the organizers. The team is not required to make this part public.

By entering into the Challenge, each participant automatically agrees to grant WU and the partners of the UGC'2 the right to publish and reproduce (in whole or in part) the public deliverables for its publicity, marketing and other external or internal purposes, in written form, by digital means or otherwise. In addition, participants agree that Soapbox, responsible for operating the online platform for the Challenge, provides WU and partners of the UGC'2 access to all information on the platform. Participants acknowledge that their participation in the Challenge may preclude them from obtaining intellectual property protection for their entry. WU excludes any liability in respect thereto.

PLEASE NOTE: WU shall not publish or reproduce the part of the submission that contains the details of the designs and innovations as well as the Annexes, except for the purpose of sharing such information with the jury, the technical committee and organizing team. Participants acknowledge that otherwise the Challenge is public in nature and that information submitted by them is provided on a non-confidential basis.

The team shall offer Country Garden Agriculture, being the Challenge's host partner, a non-transferable and non-exclusive right to negotiate a user right for the Detailed Design part on commercial terms to be agreed on. Country Garden Agriculture is entitled to invoke this right for its own benefit as third-party beneficiary of this provision. This right expires four weeks after the Grand Finale.

The teams are free to negotiate any type of deal they see fit with Country Garden Agriculture. Teams are advised to seek support from specialists in case they engage in negotiations with Country Garden Agriculture.

By submitting to the Challenge, each participant ensures that the Challenge submission and any part thereof:

- is the participant's own and original work;
- has not won previous awards; and
- does not infringe copyrights, trademarks or other intellectual property or other rights of any person or entity (such as rights of privacy, publicity)

Any team found to have committed plagiarism, infringing intellectual property rights and/or unlawful use of information will be disqualified.

In addition, WU has the right to publish and reproduce photos and videos taken during the Challenge that are uploaded by participants to the on-line platform. WU is entitled to allow partners of the UGC'2 to publish and reproduce such material on their social media channels.
